HIGHLIGHTS

- Over twelve years of progressive academic experience as an Assistant Professor and later Associate Professor, during which I taught a wide range of specialized Islamic studies courses in both Arabic and English at reputable institutions.
- Distinguished by academic bilingualism (Arabic-English), which has served as a powerful intellectual asset, enabling me to engage deeply with contemporary issues related to my field of specialization and the broader area of Islamic studies.
- Over the past three years, my research efforts have focused on analyzing modern intellectual trends, assessing how they approach Islamic themes and their implications for the contemporary religious discourse.
- In the last seven years, I have taught students from more than seventy nationalities, a rich intercultural teaching experience that significantly enhanced my pedagogical methods and cross-cultural communication skills.
- Languages: Arabic (native proficiency), English (full professional proficiency)
